SIMEON — musical career has included work with Geko Washington, Bad Manners, Sam Browne and much more. For songwriting talent hear 'Late Days & Long Nights on Fellside '93' which was co-credited to Simeon and featured in the 'Acoustic Routes' documentary.

LIZZY SHIRLEY—singer...powerful and committed.....revolutionary to the core.....

WIZZ JONES—There are few artists with more claim to being a 'musician's musician' than Wizz Jones. Inspired by Big Bill Broonzy, Rambling Jack Elliott, Alexis Korner and Ewan MacColl, learning his craft from the likes of Davy Graham and Long John Baldry in the coffee bars of London's Soho during the late fifties, busking through Europe with Rod Stewart and cited by John Renbourn and Eric Clapton as an important early influence. With his unique acoustic guitar style, an eclectic repertoire and a 'right hand worthy of Broonzy', Wizz and Simeon on Sax, Flute and Harmonica will play for peace tonight! Do not miss a British blues legend! Bert Jansch has described Wizz Jones as "the most underrated guitarist ever". www.wizzjones.com
